

Sub
A27

- representing a behavioral description of said system as a first set of objects with a first set of relations therebetween;
- refining said behavioral description into an implementable description of said system, said implementable description being represented as a second set of objects with a second set of relations therebetween; and
- retaining at least one of said second objects in a library.

(Figure 8)

[illegible]